Feifei

大家好！歡迎收聽 BBC 英語教學的“道地英語”節目，You are Rob...

Rob

... and you are Feifei. And if I may say so, what a great presenter you are!

Feifei

Oh, thank you very much.

Rob

You're welcome. And you are so talented. I don't think you really need me here to present this programme.

Feifei

Hmm... Rob 對我又是恭維，又是討好，居心何在？

Rob

Err... so, perhaps I could go now, and you just carry on by yourself?

Feifei

Oh, hold on! I know the score!

Rob

What? You know the score? Already? But the match doesn't start for another 30 minutes.

Feifei

你把話題又扯遠了！我剛才說“I know the score!”意思是“我知道你想幹什麼！”英語短語“know the score”用來表示“瞭解情況，知道某事的真相”，Let's hear some examples.

Examples

You know the score – you can't leave work until you've finished all your tasks.

I think she knew the score – she didn't have the right grades to get into university.

We know the score – money is tight, so we won't be getting a bonus this year.

Feifei

你正在收聽“道地英語”節目，以上我們一起學習了短語“know the score”的意思和用法，在日常交流中，當我們想表達“瞭解情況，知道某事的原委，心中有數”的時候，就可以說“I know the score.” And, Rob, I know the score with you – you want me to finish this programme on my own so you can leave early.

Rob

Hmm, it's true, Feifei. I need to be somewhere.

Feifei

And this has got something to do with football?

Rob

Yes. I have a ticket to see my favourite team play – and the match starts in half an hour. So, if I could just...

Feifei

Sorry, Rob – no. I've got a ticket to the theatre, and the show starts soon, so I need to go now as well. See you tomorrow.

Rob

Oh. Bye, Feifei. Hmm, now I know the score – she gets to leave early, and I don't. Bye.
