

本集內容

Watch the signals great apes use to communicate 看一看猿類用來交流的手勢

文字稿

This is how bonobos say, "give me that food". This is chimpanzee for "groom me".

這是倭黑猩猩示意“把食物給我”的動作，這是黑猩猩示意“給我梳毛”的動作。

This male chimp is feeling flirtatious.

這頭雄性黑猩猩在嬉戲打鬧。

When volunteers were shown videos of apes using gestures, they were able to correctly interpret most of them.

當參與研究的志願者們在觀看猿類使用手勢的影片時，他們能夠正確地解讀出大部分手勢的意思。

Dr Kirsty Graham, St Andrews University

"Our new study demonstrates that people can understand great ape gestures. So, all of this together gives us more confidence that this was a communication system that would have been used by our last common ancestor."

柯斯蒂·格雷厄姆 博士 聖安德魯斯大學

“我們的新研究顯示，人們可以理解猿類的手勢，因此，所有的研究結果都讓我們更加堅信，這種手勢是一種交流方式，人類與黑猩猩及倭黑猩猩最後的共同祖先曾用它相互溝通。”

影片連結

<https://www.bbc.co.uk/learningenglish/chinese/features/lingohack/ep-230209>